How to Use Your Risk Dashboard

Alex Morrison · Dominant / Controller Profile · June 13, 2026

Your mobile risk dashboard is delivered as an HTML file in your email attachments. Open it in any browser on your phone or laptop before the first meeting. It does not require an internet connection once opened.

01

DASHBOARD SECTIONS

01 Risk Forecast	The overall risk profile -- traffic-light indicator (Safe / Caution / Risk), four behavioral metrics, and the overall risk score. Read this section first.
02 Critical Risk Signals	Five animated risk bars showing the probability of specific project problems. Each bar reflects your client's specific intake responses -- not a generic template.
03 Three Golden Filters	Three specific things you must never do with this client. These are the most common mistakes architects make with Dominant / Controller profiles.
04 Contract Clauses & Scripts	Four expandable contract clauses with WHY, WHEN, and WHAT TO SAY for each one. Tap any clause to expand. The Copy button copies the legal draft text to your clipboard.

02

HOW TO USE IT BEFORE THE FIRST MEETING

5 MINUTES BEFORE	Open the dashboard on your phone. Read the Risk Forecast section. Check the overall risk score: VERY HIGH.
REVIEW GOLDEN FILTERS	Remind yourself of the three things you never do with this client. Keep these in mind throughout the meeting.

AFTER THE MEETING

Review the Contract Clauses section. Identify which clauses apply most urgently based on what emerged.

BEFORE THE CONTRACT

Use the Copy button to copy each relevant clause into your contract draft. Have your attorney review before sending.

03KEY REMINDERS FOR THIS PROFILE*■ Risk level

VERY HIGH -- this client requires the most structured approach of all six profiles.

■ Documentation

Every verbal agreement must be confirmed in writing within 24 hours. No exceptions.

■ Revisions

2 rounds per phase -- hard limit. State this in the contract and in the first meeting.

■ Contractor protocol

No direct client-to-contractor contact. Ever. Define this before construction begins.
